

IGI Resources leases space in The Columbian building

IGI Resources, a subsidiary of BP energy company, is leasing office space in the The Columbian building at 415 W. Sixth St. in downtown Vancouver. IGI is taking 3,015 square feet on the building's fifth floor with a five-year lease and expects to move into the space in mid-July. About eight people work for IGI.

Tamara Fuller with NAI Norris, Beggs & Simpson represented the lessor in the agreement. Jones Lang LaSalle of Seattle represented BP.
