Clark County business briefing

Sunday, August 03, 2008 By Barbara Samuels of The Columbian

People in business

Matt Dodd has joined the brokerage team at NAI Norris, Beggs & Simpson in Vancouver. Dodd will focus on development, land sales and investment properties.

Mark Brandon has joined Columbia Bank as senior vice president and regional manager for Southwest Washington and Oregon. Brandon will oversee and facilitate the growth of operations.

Quentin Strode has been named regional manager for consumer banking with U.S. Bank for the Vancouver-Portland metropolitan area.

Attorney Scott Hogan has been named vice president and manager of Cascade Title Co. He has been in title insurance since 1992.

Mark Lewis has been named director of the Science and Math Education Resource Center, a partnership between among school districts, Educational Service District 112, Washington State University Vancouver and Hewlett Packard. Lewis will manage a variety of projects in science and mathematics, and support efforts to align resources and expertise among school districts, higher education institutions, and private and public partners.

Lisa Schauer, Michael England and Jeffrey Smith have been elected to the board of directors for Columbia Credit Union, and Donald Harris was elected to the supervisory committee.

The Columbian welcomes submissions about Clark County residents or businesses as well as regional business events. Information must be received by noon Tuesday preceding the intended Sunday publication date. Send to Columbian Business Briefing, P.O. Box 180, Vancouver, WA 98666-0180, fax to 699-6033, or e-mail barbara.samuels@columbian.com. Sales awards are not published. Please send real estate briefs, which are published in the At Home section, to Pat Stephens in the Classified Department at the above address, or e-mail pat.stephens@columbian.com.
